

Chambers FinTech recognizes Veikko Toomere, partner at NJORD Law Firm, for his work in FinTech

Chambers and Partners are known as one of the most prestigious organizations ranking legal service providers across the world. The ranking system takes into account the quality of customer service, knowledge and experience in specific jurisdictions, and the legal service team's broad-based expertise that allows them to support their customers on all levels. Following these and a number of other criteria, Chambers and Partners conducts comprehensive and objective analyses each year.

Eight areas of law are considered under Estonian jurisdiction. NJORD Law Firm is pleased to announce that Chambers Fintech ranked NJORD's FinTech legal department highly and recognized Veikko Toomere, the department lead, as one of Estonia's top lawyers in FinTech.

"Veikko Toomere handles M&A, banking and finance, insolvency and capital markets work. He plays a key part of NJORD Law Firm's FinTech team in Estonia and is particularly noted for restructuring work," highlights Chambers FinTech Guide.

Details regarding the ranking results can be found on Chambers and Partners' website.

NJORD established its FinTech division in 2019, providing legal advice for clients all over the world. According to NJORD's clients: "FinTech matters are sometimes complicated to understand. NJORD is always on top of things and knows all the answers. FinTech is also regulated a lot, and NJORD helps us to find the best ways to be compliant."

Empowering feedback such as this inspires our team to keep pushing forward. We thank our clients and partners for their commitment and trust! Each day, you motivate us to acquire new knowledge and develop our practical skills further so that we can support you in the best way possible.
