

NJORD Latvia: Conference on the Integration of Climate Change Policy in Sectoral and Regional Policies

Today, the Ministry of Climate and Energy organized the closing conference of the Norway Grants project "Integration of Climate Change Policy into Sectoral and Regional Policies," where experts shared their research findings on the assessment of current practices and recommendations for integrating climate change aspects into sectors such as investment projects, insurance, sustainable financing, building construction, sustainable transport infrastructure, and territorial development planning. A big thank you to the project implementers for their excellent work and fervent involvement in the implementation of the project. The research results encourage us to think more about the environment in the near future, as they provide essential information on industry development directions and opportunities.
